Dear William,

Thank you for your further letter received by my office on 21 April regarding the trial part time closure of the westbound on-slip at junction 41 of the M4.

The trial operated until the end of March, and I will take a decision on the way forward following receipt of the final report in May. In the interim I have decided on the basis of advice from my officials that the part-time closures will continue.

Evaluation of the effect of the Average Speed Enforcement system on traffic flow will be made using data from the eastbound M4, as no junction closures have taken place in this direction.

Public consultation would take place as part of plans for any permanent closure.
